Strike Causes Squeeze In 9 State Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Shutdown of Chicago & North Western by a telegraphers strike started a slow economic squeeze of the nine-state Midwest served by the line.

Order of Railroad Telegraphers called its 1,000 members off job Thursday in a dispute over security. Operations on CNW's 10,600 mile rail net—longest in the nation—grounded.

Federal mediator and union management negotiators were named to continue bargaining through the long Labor Day and; but all said there was hope of a quick settlement. Ar. Johnson leaves for Greece Visit NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Vice president and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson left by air for Athen to after a 24-hour state visit Cyprus in which they were welcomed with special cordiality by Turkish Cypriots.

In a brief farewell address, Johnson said: "Our discussions have been most worthwhile."

Johnson had danced in the streets of Nicosia's Turkish quarter with a dozen lovely Turkish girls and hundreds of Turkish Cypriots cheered.

But the cheers faded when Greek S. vce president entered Greek sectors of town. A thin line of Greek shopkeepers and passers-by applauded perfunctorily as he drove past. The main square in the Greek sector was totally deserted.

The Greek majority in this island nation feel the United States at fault for not supporting Cypriot union with Greece. In addition, the nation's Communist party comprising more than 30 per cent of the electorate is ignoring Johnson's visit.

Film Star's Marriage Is Voided

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A Mexican court has voided the Mexican proxy marriage of film star Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti, their Italian attorney said today.

The action may save the couple from a bigamy trial in Italy.

At Juarez, Mexico, Antonio Lopez Machuca, who is Miss Loren's Mexican attorney, said no decree had been issued but that Judge Francisco Urango Munoz had advised him one would be announced today.

Attorney Mario Luzzati said in Milan he had received word that a court at Juarez had declared the marriage was nonexistent—that is, Miss Loren, who had never been married.

The pair had asked for the nullification of their marriage because of Italian law, not because of romantic difficulties.

Two months ago, an investigating judge in Rome, acting as a one-man grand jury, ordered Miss Loren and Ponti to stand trial.

Ponti has a Mexican divorce from his first wife, but Roman Catholic Italy does not recognize divorce. He was charged with bigamy. Miss Loren, who had never married before, was charged with concurrence in bigamy.

Legal sources said the charges may be dropped as a result of the Mexican court action.

Ponti, 46, and Miss Loren, 27, were married by proxy in Juarez in September 1957, three years after Ponti obtained a Mexican divorce from his first wife, Giuliana Fiastra.

Band Tributes Senator Wiley

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Mukwonago High School band, which won a measure of fame earlier this month when Sen. Alexander Wiley was pictured locked in in-trepid combat with one of its trombones, paid the Senate's senior Republican back Wednesday—with ruffles and flourishes.

Wiley, home for a five-day campaign trip, greeted each member and in the best political traditions kissed band director Richard Underberg's baby daughter, Vicki, three times—twice for photographs.

The trombone-playing picture was distributed over the Associated Press Wirephoto Network and the band has been getting mail on the subject ever since.

Contempt Is Threatened By Committee

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats on the Senate Judiciary Committee appeared today to hold the key to contempt of Congress action against four big steel companies battling against disclosing production costs to Senate investigators.

Then Senate Antitrust subcommittee, a unit of the Judiciary Committee, voted 5 to 2 Friday to recommend that the companies and nine of their top executives be cited for contempt, punishable by a $1,000 fine, a year in prison or both.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., accused the steel executives of "contumacious conduct" after they failed to appear in response to subpoenas and supply detailed figures on production costs.

The companies are the Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco steel corporations.

The cost data first was subpoenaed last April after announcement of a $6-a-ton steel price increase, subsequently rescinded under pressure from President Kennedy.

Kefauver contends the information is essential to evaluate steel pricing practices.

The Judiciary Committee, a conservative stronghold in the Senate presided over by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. It is not expected to meet before the middle of next week.

"I think Sen. Kefauver will find it rather difficult to get the Judiciary Committee to recommend contempt action," Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., told a reporter.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, is a top-ranking member both of the Judiciary Committee and of Kefauver's antitrust unit.

The Judiciary Committee is composed of nine Democrats and six Republicans. Of the Democrats four are Southerners who do not serve on the antitrust subcommittee.

The steel officials are: Bethlehem—A. B. Homer, chairman and chief executive officer; Edmund Martin, president, and Frank R. Brugler, controller.

Republic — Thomas F. Patton, president, and George M. Feil, vice president and controller.

National — Thomas E. Millson, chairman of the board, and George Stinson, secretary.

Armco — Logan T. Johnston, president, and D. E. Reichelderfer, vice president, finance.

Plans called for a flight a day until all the 303 persons are out of Cuba.

Cleanliness Helped Thief Get Away

BALTIMORE (AP) — Herbert Herman's cleanliness helped a thief make a clean getaway.

Herman gave chase Wednesday when he saw a youth take a $200 ring and a wallet containing $84 from his bedroom.

When the thief ran out the back door, Herman stopped short, remembering he had been taking a shower.

No Question by Business Over Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Perhaps the most comfort businessmen can derive from this week's presidential news conference is that for the first time in a long spell there weren't any questions about the state of the economy.

All hands seem willing to let lie, for the moment at least, all of the summer's built-up fears about whether we are going.

And business could be the better for it. Industry and trade have problems enough of their own without everyone getting in one the guessing game. Also the publicized fears tend to feed the very trends some have already predicted.

Even the stock market has stopped being a barometer. This week at least. It appears to be waiting for everyone to come back from vacation full of vinegar, if not big new ideas.

Business traditionally picks up after Labor Day. And stock traders seem to feel there'll be time enough to wait and see if tradition is followed rather than trying to guess ahead of time.

But the momentary truce in the talk about the economy's parlous future is about the only uncertainty that isn't still around.

What Congress will do is the most immediate. In the final weeks of a session many business plans are held up to see if specific proposals are accepted or rejected. Congress can change its mind quickly and frequently in the final days.

And business has a big stake in Continued on Page Two

Food Is the Way to the Heart of People, Thus Food Always Important at World Fairs

By MARY ANITA LASETER
From the Paris Fair of 1872 to the Seattle Fair of 1962 unusual food and drink have been a part of the fun. At the Century 21 Exposition in Seattle this year, the gigantic "Food Circus" pavilion and the spectacular revolving restaurant atop the Space Needle are intriguing highlights all visitors make it a special point to see.

For fair-goers in a hurry, hundreds of glistening vending machines quickly dispense full meals. Or there are special treats like the "space needle" ice cream cones shaped to match the symbolic six-hundred foot skyscraper. Delectable novelties in food and drink have always been an exciting part of fairs, so Seattle is just following along with tradition.

Way back in 1872, visitors of the Fair of St. Germain in Paris buzzed excitedly about a new dark beverage called coffee, sold there publicly for the first time. A resourceful American named Pascal operated a coffee tent with Turkish waiters to peddle the coffee.

The first world's fair was held in 1851, when England's Prince Albert promoted the enormously successful Great Exhibition of London. It was an enormous success, but no strikingly different foods were discovered there.

At the Paris Exhibition of 1867, the most popular attraction was the Dutch Cafe. This was not due to the food obtained there, however, but because of "the young Dutch" frauds attired in picturesque costumes with curls of gold around their heads and long earrings formed of strings of coins.

In 1873 the International Exhibition of London gave food very special attention. It offered "The School of economical Cookery" (similar to cooking schools of today). On one occasion the school was honored by a visit from Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. For her an omelette was prepared over a gas stove. Both the food and the cooking equipment were considered novelties and the omelette, accomplished in four minutes, won unqualified queenly approval.

Three years later, Philadelphia's Centennial Exposition received special recognition for "The National Cookery Book" as a lasting memento of the fair and the country's culinary heritage. One famous fair after the other had its day, and then came the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of 1904, better known as the St. Louis Fair.

Probably the most distinguishing phase of this fair was the fact that it fostered the creation of the hamburger-in-a-bun and the ice cream cone. In the fair's amusement section, one concession sold hot waffles while a booth next door sold ice cream. Nothing that people often combined the waffles and ice cream, the waffle man, Ernest A. Hamwi, suggested rolling the waffles into funnels and inserting ice cream in them. His idea was so successful that ice cream concessions all over the fair began buying waffles and selling ice cream "cornucopias." We know that was just the beginning!

Who knows what the new creation will be at the world's fair in Seattle. Will it be something found at the Korea Restaurant, at the Hawaiian Village with the steak-on-a-stick called "teriyaki" or maybe Danish frankfurters in pumpernickel buns at Copenhagen Square? Or will something new be found by accident like the ice cream cone?

Segregation Case Before U. S. Court

By DON MCKEE
ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—City officials—who told Negroes they should fight their racial battles in the courts—have mustered numerous technicalities in trying to kill the first legal thrust against segregation in Albany.

A motion by the city to throw out a desegregation suit is before U.S. Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott. Elliott heard arguments Thursday on numerous legal points raised by the dismissal motion.

Negroes have asked desegregation of parks, libraries, public recreational and travel facilities.

Attorney Hiliard P. Burt, counsel for the city, said the complaint failed to show a controversy between plaintiffs and defendants.

The attorney argued that complainant Dr. W. C. Anderson, an Albany Negro leader, had never tried to use any of the facilities, and, therefore has not been wronged.

Burt cited about 30 cases to back up his motion for dismissal. Constance Baker Motley of New York contended the complaint was properly offered and cited cases to support her argument.

Motley, chief counsel for the plaintiffs, is an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

As the hearing progressed, 23 persons elected to stay in jail after their arrest four days ago for a prayer vigil at City Hall. They were among 75 jailed in the demonstration by out-of-state clergymen and church members.

About 40 clergymen and others from the Chicago area left Thursday night by chartered bus for their homes after paying $200 bonds.

U. S. Plane Is Fired On By Cuban Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Navy plane winging over the sea 15 miles from Cuba was fired on by naval craft believed to be Cuban, said the White House, which warned Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government that American crews will shot back in any future attacks.

The incident, which the White House said occurred Thursday, increased U.S.-Cuban tensions that have been growing with reports of shiploads of Russian arms, equipment and technicians landing in Cuba.

State Department officials were inclined to regard the attack as a secondary incident in the cold war. But they cautioned that repetition could have serious consequences.

Says Continue Bible Reading

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Owen B. Kiernan, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, has advised local school authorities to continue Bible readings in the public schools.

A memorandum from Kiernan said, "It is the feeling of the department that the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in the New York case held unconstitutional only the voluntary recitation of a prayer which was composed by a public authority."

The fact that the patrol plane flew so close to the two naval vessels may be an indication of how closely the United States is watching the Russian shipments.

One question raised by the attack on the plane was where it was carried out under orders. There was some speculation the blame may lie with trigger-happy Cubans keyed up by Castro's repeated warnings of an imminent invasion.

Dispatches from Havana report that military and police guards have been strengthened around major buildings and installations amid rumors — officially ignored by the government — that anti-Castro forces have made new landings in Los Villas and Oriente provinces.

There were also reports from informed sources that Castro had foiled an uprising in Las Villas Province.

Cuban police meanwhile stopped accepting further applications by Cubans for travel to the United States.

Gable Estate Sued for $100,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new $100,000 suit has been filed against the estate of the late film actor Clark Gable by a woman who withdrew an identical suit a year ago.

Mrs. Jill Winkler Rath, 41, charges Gable broke an agreement to will her the amount.

Mrs. Rath is the widow of Hollywood press agent Otto Winkler, who was killed in a 1942 Nevada plane crash in which Gable's third wife, actress Carole Lombard, also died.

Mrs. Rath contends Gable agreed to will her $100,000 because the actor had induced her husband to accompany Miss Lombard and because Gable also persuaded Mrs. Rath to accept a small settlement from the airline.

State Department officials were inclined to regard the attack as a secondary incident in the cold war. But they cautioned that repetition could have serious consequences.

The White House statement said that "all means necessary" will be employed by U.S. aircraft or ships to protect themselves in any future encounters over international waters.

Rumors of the attack were spread through Washington Friday by the White House issued a statement in the afternoon confirming it and describing the attack as these:

On Thursday afternoon, a small naval vessel, "believed to be Cuban," fired upon an unarmed Navy aircraft, flying 15 miles north of Cuba's coast.

The plane, designed for surveillance of surface ships and submarines, was on a routine training mission out of Florida and was manned by three reservists.

The White House said the plane was not hit and none of the crew members were hurt.

The attack raised indignation in Congress, and the decision to shoot back in the future was generally applauded.

"This is the only course we can take," said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, concurred, saying: "Any time anybody fires on an American military plane it should fire back. I agree with the White House instructions."

The fact that the patrol plane flew so close to the two naval vessels may be an indication of how closely the United States is watching the Russian shipments.

One question raised by the attack on the plane was where it was carried out under orders. There was some speculation the blame may lie with trigger-happy Cubans keyed up by Castro's repeated warnings of an imminent invasion.

many of the questions President Kennedy did discuss at his news conference—foreign trade appropriations, the Cuban and Berlin problems, the atomic race, and even the makeup of the Supreme Court, which passes on a number of business problems each year.

American business has become so involved in political decisions, domestic and international, that any swift change in any of these fields can have a bearing on the business cycle.

Many factors outside of the economic trend itself affect tax policies and a great array of business regulations.

These same factors bear on consumer psychology. The results show up in stores, the home mortgage market, the balance between total spending and total saving.

The moves the government may take—or propose to take—in guiding the money market, counteracting a business slowdown or breaking a speculative boom, financially aiding or restraining the unemployed, riding herd on price or wage increases—all affect the business cycle.

But the very act of making the proposals, and all the talk about their wisdom or necessity, can hold up or stimulate business planning, and to a lesser degree influence consumer thinking.

So the pre-Labor Day truce in heated discussions about whether we are going and why, even if the truce is fleeting, can be welcomed by many who would rather wait and see how business acts on its own and what consumers do about spending for the traditional fall goods and services.

Frankfurter

of the positions advocated by the Communist Party."

He put Frankfurter in the group. Eastland's performance was called a "disgrace" by the assistant Republican leader, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California.

The day after Roosevelt appointed him to the delight of liberals, the New York Times, a remarkably clairvoyant editorial predicted he would reveal an "organic conservatism."

Walton Hamilton, commenting in the Yale Law Review in 1947 on the mind of the conservative wing of the court, in which he placed Frankfurter, described this particular kind of mind as:

"So essentially judicial that a slight deviation from court procedure—often existing only in the mind of the justice—is a mortal sin . . ."

Hamilton sized up the differences between the court's liberals and conservatives as the difference between the "activist" and "legal" approach to cases.

It was the difference between the "Let's be cautious" and "Let's get moving" view of jurisprudence as Frankfurter had demonstrated a year before Hamilton wrote his piece.

In 1946 the court refused to tell state legislatures they had to reapportion their membership to give voters in a state fairer representation. Frankfurter, writing the opinion, said the court should not enter "this political thicket."

The "activists" took over in March this year when a majority, brushing aside Frankfurter's view of 1946, ruled for the first time that the court had to take a hand in reapportionment. It was a landmark decision but Frankfurter was still against it.

One Way to Reach the Mind Of a Teen-age Girl

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: The numerous letters from unhappy teen-age girls which appear in your column, prompt me to write you out of my own experience. I find that when a girl reaches adolescence, the mother, uneasy about the physical changes in her daughter, and fearful of the evil over lurking in the shadows, makes a frantic effort to combat these forces and, in her anxiety, overdoes it. She fails to appreciate, of course, that the girl's mind, like her body, is developing and with it the independent personality which helps her mature. Instead of reasoning as with an adult, the mother continues to treat the girl like a child, to yell, "Don't! Don't!" and when defied, to resort to hysterics, all of which is nerve-wracking and useless.

I well remember my own feelings at the age of 14 when my stepmother, barely two years older than I, barged unceremoniously into my room with my freshly laundered clothes. Instead of asking if she might put them away for me, she yanked open the bureau drawer, piled them in and marched off without a word. I suddenly found myself wishing she had respected my privacy and knocked on the door first.

My stepmother's parents and grandparents came from England. Under their tutelage she was painfully neat. Her bureau drawers could have been inspected at any time and found not only lavender-scented fresh, but with every garment folded straight. Like most American children I was untrained in the care of possessions, but given a warning knock I might have sketchedly made room for those beautifully laundered clothes and in the doing saved face.

I also notice in your column a discussion as to what children, especially teen-agers, could do with their spare time. My two sisters and I, during our summer vacations and in our spare moments, read all of Dickens's works and the novels of Sir Walter Scott, as well as the writings of American authors like Louisa M. Alcott, Harriet Beecher Stowe and James Fenimore Cooper. One of us read aloud while the others did needlework, embroidery or plain sewing.

We were also inspired to make

Ditches that surrounded Neolithic settlements in Italy have long since been filled, yet the 4,000-year-old pattern is still visible from the air.

Shakespeare a part of our way of thinking by the late George Frank Stephens of Philadelphia and Arden, Delaware (which he founded and whose centenary has recently been celebrated.) Every Saturday evening in the summer, Mr. Stephens put on Shakespeare's plays in an open-air theatre (admission free), with a 7 p. m. curtain so that children might attend. We took part in the production and acting. The backdrop was a huge rock framed by young trees and our favorite shows were "Twelfth Night," "As You Like It," and "Midsummer Night's Dream." The last was given only when a full moon could cast its silvery light on the elves and fairies. At other times our main source of illumination was the headlight of an old-fashioned steam locomotive borrowed from the railroad. The children, my sisters and I inclined, thrilled at this.

Mr. Stephens always said that children had a keener grasp of Shakespeare than grownups. Intuitively we comprehended the philosophy of "Hamlet," the youthful tragedy of "Romeo and Juliet," the politics of "Julius Caesar," and the underlying humor in all of Shakespeare's plays.

With Mr. Stephens' help we gave light operas (singers can be rounded up in any community) like "Robin Hood," "Pinafore," "Trial by Jury," and "Barnaby Ransom" (take-off on war). Another summer Mr. Stephens produced a peace pageant in Quaker costumes, and having as actors, children of all faiths. Every Sunday night he had his men build a big campfire around which we all sat while he read aloud by the light of a lantern hung on a forked stick, "Uncle Remus" stories by Joel Chandler Harris. The evening ended with the singing of familiar songs in which young and old joined. Simple times, but good ones, probably because we all participated. Why don't communities across the country do the same thing today? It could be one answer to juvenile delinquency. —Florence Garvin, Pasadena, California.

Proud Over Learning to Swim

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—Della Derlien, paralyzed from the waist down, deaf and unable to speak seven years ago, has regained most of her faculties but probably is proudest of her most recent accomplishment of learning to swim.

The story of Miss Derlien's recovery was reported in New York Thursday at the meeting of the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Additions to the dramatic story of the girl's recovery and of her other accomplishments through her determination were described by her aunt, Mrs. Lorrin Friedrichs of Sheboygan, with whom Miss Derlien, 26, lives.

"She is a remarkable girl," Mrs. Friedrichs said. "Not only did she learn to lip read on her own but this summer she insisted on going to a summer camp alone where she learned to swim."

"She probably is prouder of her ability to swim than she is of the many other things she accomplished—like fighting her way back after being hopelessly paralyzed with spinal meningitis."

"Della is a very cheerful girl and never talks about the years she spent in bed and of the long surgery on her twisted body."

"She works part time as a photo retoucher for a Sheboygan studio, moves about freely in a wheel chair, dresses herself, helps me with the meals and housework."

"She never lost the ability to speak but she had to teach herself to lipread. She never took a course in that art."

"Now she eagerly is awaiting the return of her brother, Dennis,

Animal Surgery Causes Fainting

TORONTO (AP)—Live telecasts of surgery on small animals are laying them in the aisles at the annual Canadian National Exhibition here.

Spectators are fainting at the rate of three an operation. More than 60 visitors have been carried or helped out, and a few have required hospital treatment.

The televised operations, performed twice daily on small animals needing treatment, are the chief attraction of a $1 million "vetoscope" exhibit put on this year for the first time by Canada's 2,000 veterinarians.

Willed to Husband

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A will under which Mrs. Ida Cantor left her estate to her husband, comedian Eddie Cantor, was filed for probate in Superior Court Wednesday. The petition gave no estimate of value except that the estate would exceed $25,000.

who will be released from the Navy in mid-September.

The Derlien children came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Friedrichs when their mother died in 1950. The father, Peter, lives in Wausau, Wis.

Dr. Herbert A. Schoening, director of rehabilitation services at the Kenny Rehabilitation Institute in Minneapolis, said that seven years ago, on the eve of her graduation from high school, the girl was stricken by spinal meningitis.

Finally, her family placed her under treatment of the Kenny institute. A 14-man rehabilitation team went to work on her case.

Schoening said her restoration took 19 weeks. Miss Derlien underwent eight surgical operations and receive intensive treatment, therapy and training.

Jail Doors Open for Clergymen

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Jail doors have swung open for 20 persons, including 17 clergymen, arrested for a racial protest demonstration. Most, if not all, of the 55 still behind bars planned to gain release today by posting $200 bonds.

The spotlight in this racial trouble spot shifts during the afternoon to U. S. district court, where a hearing was called on a suit seeking to desegregate parks, libraries and travel facilities in Albany.

More than 50 clergymen, mostly from Northern and Midwestern cities, were among 54 white persons an 821 Negroes jailed Tuesday for refusing to leave the sidewalk in front of city hall where they sought to hold a prayer vigil.

Bees on Building

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A swarm of perhaps 10,000 bees spotted a tiny patch of green high among the skyscrapers of Kansas City Wednesday. They landed on it.

It was the small patio opening onto the office of James M. Kemper Sr., chairman of the board of the Commerce Trust Co.

Kemper carefully snipped the branch on which the swarm was buzzing, dropped branch, bees and all into a burlap bag and ordered them taken to his home.

He already has seven hives.

5000 Are Deformed

BONN, Germany (AP)—An estimated 5,000 German children have been deformed by thalidomide taken by the mothers during pregnancy, a West German health official said Wednesday.

Josef Stralau told a news conference the peak obviously has passed.

Seek Admission

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The Dutch government will try to get the United States to admit some 10,000 Dutch immigrants from West New Guinea, a spokesman of the Dutch Emigration Council said today.

Bolsters Garrison

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—Portugal appeared today to be bolstering its garrison on Timor Island, in the heart of the Indonesian Archipelago, to offset a reported troop buildup on the Indonesian half of the island.

LISBON (AP) - Lisbon police announced Wednesday night the arrest of a "number of Communists" who allegedly planned to destroy national institutions and proclaim a popular republic in Portugal.

Police sources said those arrested also planned to give independence to Portuguese overseas territories.

eager beaver duck hunters not only start shining up their shotguns, they start to polish their own peculiar vocabularies as well.

To a non-member of the fraternity, their argot may sound like beatnik blather, but every little word has a meaning all its own to the Nimrod.

For instance, a cornsheller is a pump-action shotgun, a two-holer

a double-barreled shotgun and "a twice barrel carbine" is Louisiana Cajun talk for the same weapon.

Moonshiners are out-of-range gunners in the next blind. Roman candles are three-inch magnum shotshells and a slough pump is American bittner. Pintails are called sprigs; a bull sprig is a

Mexico

...and every man

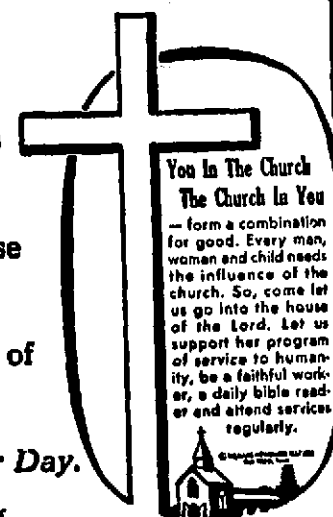

shall receive his own reward, according to his own labour; for we are labourers together with God." Those lines from Corinthians, might well be the inspiration for the holiday America observes... a special day set aside to pay respect to those who labor to make our nation great and, consequently, keep it free. This is

Labor Day... when each man and woman whose work helps keep the bulwark of Democracy strong, receives "his own reward" in the satisfaction of a job well done.

It is not just another day for looking back on past accomplishment — this Labor Day.

In a strange new scientific world which taxes comprehension, it is a time for looking ahead... for rededicating ourselves. We must need those Corinthian lines which asks us all to be "labourers together with God."

You In The Church
The Church in You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

WE NEED GREATER CHURCHES and a GREATER FAITH TO HELP US Combat Communism ON ALL FRONTS

God's Lifeline Is Extended to You . . . Grab Hold While Yet There's time!
